‘What it is and what it is not!’

- 1
- The PNA is not an exhaustive list of graphical data but includes appendices where further data is included.
- 2
- The PNA will include links to other supporting information such as the local Well-being Assessments required under the Well-being of Future Generations Act - we do not want to duplicate large sections of information in the PNA which is included in other documents.
- 3
- The PNA uses a national toolkit developed by Welsh Local Government Association (WLGA) and Social Services Improvement Agency (SSIA).
- 4
- The PNA will not include or reference every data source available - as it will simply be too large, but we will use the Social Services and Well-being Act data catalogue developed by Data Unit Wales as a starting point.
- 5
- The PNA is based on the views of citizens and providers, and co-production is a core design principle. Citizens and providers helped identify the priority outcomes under each core theme.
- 6
- The PNA will use the latest research. The PNA is not adopting a ‘blank canvas’ approach as there are a number of previously completed, and current, needs assessments and market position statements that include useful intelligence. Also, national reports such as NHS Adverse Childhood Experiences provide invaluable data that the PNA will incorporate, but not replicate.
- 7
- The core theme chapters will read as executive summaries and highlight regional priorities and also high level partnerships and services that can support the agenda.
- 8
- The core theme chapters will also include a list of suggested actions to be included in the underpinning joint Area Plan required following the publication of the PNA – again this list is not exhaustive but a starting point and will be developed further when producing the joint Area Plan.
- 9
- The PNA is the first of its kind and will set the direction of travel for health and social care services - it is the ‘shop window’ in terms of priorities and next steps - and more detailed analysis, mapping of services and actions will be set out in the joint Area Plan required by April 2018.

Foreword

The Gwent Health Social Care and Well-being Partnership is pleased to publish the region’s first Social Services and Well-being Act Population Needs Assessment which will be central to promoting Well-being, supporting people at the earliest opportunity to maintain their independence and to help people to better help themselves.

We are living in a time of enduring austerity and the priorities that we identify and work in partnership to deliver, will also need to ensure that services are sustainable now and in the future. This needs assessment presents not only the level of need across the region, but also provides the region’s response to the identified need as well as proposing the next steps required to meet those needs. The Gwent Regional Partnership will now translate words into action through good partnership working and shared goals and aspirations.

Finally, to ensure this needs assessment will have the desired impact we need to engage with our citizens and we are pleased that so many people and partners have taken part in our pre-engagement and consultation activities to help us identify what matters most. We believe that engagement is not a process but a culture, and we will continue to engage every step along the way through our various panels and existing partner agency groups.

Chair of Citizen Panel

The Gwent Citizen’s Panel were very pleased to receive a presentation on the Population Needs Assessment in July 2016. This was welcome confirmation that service needs and priorities were being taken very seriously. It also provided a level of understanding of the assessments that allowed panel members to go back to groups in their localities and broadcast the assessments for completion.

My own linked group, Caerphilly Over 50s Forum, spent some time discussing the PNA at our Steering Group and we were able to submit a comprehensive assessment covering all aspects where we felt the older person’s interests and priorities were important. We recognised the size of the task in reaching out to collect the data but were very pleased to take part in the process. A quote from our meeting: “This is hard work - let’s hope they are listening.”

Next steps & joint Area Plan

The 2015 partnership arrangement regulations require local authorities and Local Health Boards (LHB) to form partnerships in order to carry out the population assessments required by section 14(1) of the 2014 Act. The Area Plans required to be prepared by local authorities and Local Health Boards under section 14A should also be prepared on a joint basis. Developing an Area Plan jointly will create consistency with the combined population assessment process and contribute significantly to the objective of integrated and sustainable care and support services. It will also enable partners to discharge the section 14A(2)(f) duty in the 2014 Act to set out the details of anything they propose to do jointly in response to the population assessment.

The Area Plan should set out the specific care and support services proposed to be provided or arranged in relation to each core theme and in how actions will be delivered:

- Jointly by partners;
- by each individual local authority; and
- by the Local Health Board.

This PNA has highlighted high level priorities under each core theme and necessary process developments required to implement the priorities. The basis of the Area Plan will be the priorities under each core theme and process developments. There are two types of suggestions actions.

1. Actions required to improve outcomes for people & promote well-being.
2. Actions to improve regional processes.

The high level actions to progress through the joint Area Plan are set out and we will develop a more robust analysis of actions required to deliver outcomes through the development of the Area Plan. We will also set out in detail the process actions required to develop a regional approach.
